

From: Steve Bell
To: <mlivingston@utah.gov>
Date: 6/6/2008 7:14 AM
Subject: gas hikes

I Just heard about the increase being asked for by the Questar. Rather than pass on the expense due to the natural gas being supplied to the gas powered electricity. Can't they decrease the discount they give to the electric company?

I can understand an increase due to inflation. The amount they are asking for is ten times the amount anyone where I work gets for a cost of living raise. So I don't break even I am losing in the standard of living race.

Thanks

Steve Bell