Subject: Natural Gas Price Laws

Hello,

I'm just a middle class construction worker, and I bought a ngv about 10 months ago. It has helped me through these tough financial times, and I feel that if rates were to increase there is no real advantage to driving my ngv. If gas is less expensive than no one in their right mind will want to drive an ngv, and the environment will definitely suffer as well. All I want you to know is I think the government should just try to exercise a little bit of common sense! :-)

Thanks for your time, Tyler S. Rosen
